SYDNEY FC FAN SECURES TV RIGHTS TO ENGLISH CHAMPIONSHIP PLAY OFF FINAL

Last year one of the world's most passionate supporters, West Ham fan David Lewis, did what no other football fan has ever done – he bought the rights to a match in the UK so he could watch his side in the play off for a place in the English Premier League from Australia.

This year, David Lewis is at it again, with West Ham playing Preston North End in the Coca Cola Championship Play Off final on Monday night (May 30).

What's this got to do with Sydney FC? Well David has professed his passion for Sydney FC and if he is half as passionate about Sydney FC as he is about West Ham then he will be a welcome addition to the Sydney FC fan base.
